Dear Alyssa:

I have had the honor and pleasure of serving on the ARB for the past year a half. It has been a great experience and pleasure to meet and work with such a well-intentioned and community-minded group of professionals. I have learned a great deal from all of you. I have tried to balance a hectic professional life with the limited requirements of the ARB. As you know, it has not been easy and often times my service to the ARB has suffered due to my other professional demands.

All of you put too much sweat and effort into this organization to allow any one member to do any less. I have come to the unfortunate realization that I have far too many masters to serve and do not wish to compromise this organization by any further lack of attendance. As much as I enjoy my participation with the ARB, I simply cannot make the commitment to attend regular meetings.

Therefore, please accept this letter as my notice of resignation from the ARB, effective immediately. I appreciate your understanding of my current demands. If there is every anything I can do for you or the ARB, please do not hesitate to call me.

Sincerely,

David A. Rancourt
